Henry Wang '90 conducted his first orchestra concert when he was eighteen-years-old. In addition to his duties as Conductor of the Princeton University Chamber Orchestra, Mr. Wang also serves as Music Director of the Princeton University Gilbert & Sullivan Society, Assistant Conductor of the Princeton University Orchestra, and Assistant Conductor of the Westminster Community Orchestra.

During the Summer of 1988, Mr. Wang worked with Daniel Lewis at the IMF Music Directors' Symposium held at Interlochen, Michigan. Last year he attended the Conductors' Institute at Columbia, South Carolina, and studied with Harold Farberman, John Canarin, and Donald Portnoy. Mr. Wang has also studied conducting with Martin LeBeau, Stephen Colvin, and Michael Pratt.

On May 14th Mr. Wang will lead the Gilbert & Sullivan Society in its New York City debut at CAMI Hall in a concert performance of H.M.S. Pinafore. He will also guest conduct the Princeton University Orchestra in a special concert on June 9th at Richardson Auditorium.

Natalia Colocci '91, a Chemistry major, received her formal education in flute at the Conservatory of Santa Cecilia in Rome, Italy. In the Summer of 1988, Ms. Colocci participated in several selective master classes in Italy and at the Mozarteum Academie of Music in Salzburg, Austria. She also won second prize in an Italian national competition.

At Princeton she has continued to be actively involved in the University music community. Last Fall, Ms. Colocci was flute soloist in the Princeton University Orchestra's performance of Debussy's Prélude à l'Après-Midi d'un Faune, and in January she placed second in the University concerto competition. She has given many performances both at the Woolworth Center and at Taplin Auditorium, and will appear as guest soloist with the Princeton University Orchestra on June 9th. Ms. Colocci is currently studying flute with Jayn Rosenfeld.
